

INCLUSIVE EDUCATION: 30-credit course at McGill

University, ARE YOU INTERESTED?

McGill University offers a 30-credit certificate in INCLUSIVE EDUCATION to assist elementary and high school teachers in meeting the diverse needs of learners in today's classrooms. The 10 courses that make up the program address a range of topics that are of high interest to teachers, including behavior problems, learning difficulties, evaluation, as well as family, school, and community issues.

This program is offered through the Educational and Counselling Psychology Program at McGill and taught by qualified instructors with experience in Quebec Education system.

Should number; warrant, there is the possibility of offering classes in the West Island region of Montréal.

For more information,
PLEASE CALL 514-398-4248.